

What is TFCD?

In short – it is the acronym for “trade for CD” – an agreement arrived at between a photographer and model whereby the model will pose for the photographer in exchange for a CD of the photographs taken during the shoot.

They can also agree to the terms of the exchange – always good to have a model release to accompany this arrangement, just to be on the safe side.

Beneficial to both parties, as the model gets “free” photographs for use in developing a portfolio, and the photographer for extending his/her own portfolio.
